Dear Michel,

Re: Invitation to comment *IFRS Taxonomy Due Process

On behalf of the European Financial Reporting Advisory Group (EFRAG), I am responding to the Invitation to Comment IFRS Taxonomy Due Process of November 2015. We welcome the opportunity to share our suggestions and observations on the IFRS Taxonomy due process.

In our [draft] comment letter on the Request for Views Trustees' Review of Structure and Effectiveness: Issues for the Review of [xx] December 2015, we have acknowledged the importance of the IFRS Foundation itself continuing to develop and maintain an IFRS Taxonomy in order to control the quality of the Taxonomy and the use of the "IFRS" brand name.

EFRAG welcomes the IASB's shift to focus more on the Taxonomy itself, leaving the development of the appropriate computer language/software to somebody else. We support the IFRS Foundation's goal of having the IFRS Taxonomy recognised as the globally agreed standard to tag and intelligently structure IFRS financial information within a digital report.

EFRAG is very much supportive of the Trustees' statement that Taxonomy considerations should not dictate the standard-setting process. We therefore are not supportive of the integration of the IFRS taxonomy activities in the technical programme of the IASB.

Having considered the proposals for changes to the IFRS Taxonomy due process on incorporating IFRS Taxonomy activities in the technical programme of the IASB and notably the role of the IASB Board and the IFRS Taxonomy Review Panel in approving the IFRS Taxonomy content updates reflecting new or amended IFRS, we are of the opinion that these proposals constitute a real risk of the IFRS Taxonomy having a too prominent role. The IFRS Taxonomy risks driving the disclosure requirements in the standard-setting process and thereby moving away from a principles-based approach.

Moreover IASB Board members can only assume the responsibility for a supplementary task as approval of the IFRS Taxonomy at the expense of their other activities such as outreach activities and ensuring the quality of final standards.

We have elaborated our concerns in the appendix to this letter.

If you would like to discuss our comments further, or if we can assist in any other way, please do not hesitate to contact Saskia Slomp or me.

Yours sincerely,

Roger Marshall
Acting President
EFRAG Board

Appendix

Role of the IASB and the IFRS Taxonomy Review Panel

Q1 The role of the IASB and the IFRS Taxonomy Review Panel within the review and approval of the content of the IFRS Taxonomy is described. Do you agree with the way in which the IASB and the IFRS Taxonomy Review Panel will be engaged and the degree of its involvement? Why or why not? If not, please state the reasons why you do not agree and any alternatives you would like us to consider.

Notes to constituents

- 1 The new IFRS Taxonomy due process requirements provide for a specific role for the IASB. Currently, the IASB does not have any formal responsibility for taxonomy-related matters. It is now proposed that the technical programme of the IASB incorporates IFRS Taxonomy activities.
  - IFRS Taxonomy content updates reflecting new or amended IFRS are approved by members of the IASB; and
  - IFRS Taxonomy content updates reflecting common practice are subject to review by three to five members of the IASB ('the IFRS Taxonomy Review Panel').
- 2 The IASB or the IFRS Taxonomy Review Panel does not approve or review the [Proposed] IFRS Taxonomy Files.

EFRAG's response

EFRAG does not support the integration of the IFRS taxonomy activities in the technical programme of the IASB and making the IASB members (or a group of IASB members (IFRS Taxonomy Review Panel) responsible for the approval of the IFRS Taxonomy.

EFRAG believes that the IASB Board should not have a role in the approval of the IFRS Taxonomy content updates. Approval should take place at competent senior staff level having the appropriate expertise

- 3 The IASB's standards are developed on the basis that entities are required to prepare a general purpose financial report whether that report is printed or in electronic format, ranging from a PDF version to one that is 'tagged' (in a computer-readable code that identifies specific items) using a structured data format. EFRAG appreciates that one of the reasons the IASB produces the IFRS Taxonomy is to assist with the accurate digital representation of IFRS in a structured format and to facilitate electronic filing.
- 4 EFRAG agrees that it is important that the IFRS Foundation itself continues to develop and maintain an IFRS Taxonomy in order to control the quality of the Taxonomy and the use of the "IFRS" brand name. This is the only way the IASB can avoid that the technology sets limitations on the IFRS filing in electronic format. However, developing the IFRS Taxonomy in house should be considered in the context of budgetary restrictions and balanced against other priorities.

- 5 EFRAG has expressed on several occasions<sup>1</sup> the view that the development of the IFRS taxonomy should not be integrated in the IASB standard-setting process because it risked moving away from a principle-based approach, in particular in the area of disclosures. EFRAG had therefore welcomed the Trustees statement in the Request for Views Trustees' Review of Structure and Effectiveness: Issues for the Review of July 2015 that Taxonomy considerations should not dictate the standard-setting process. EFRAG however is not supportive of the IFRS Taxonomy due process proposals as included in the Invitation to Comment proposing that the technical programme of the IASB incorporates IFRS Taxonomy activities.
- 6 Although the purpose of IASB involvement in the development of the IFRS Taxonomy content of protecting the integrity of the Standards by ensuring that the IFRS Taxonomy model and structure only guides reporting practice in line with IFRS and does not stray into interpretation is commendable, we believe it constitutes the risk that the IFRS Taxonomy will drive the standard setting process in terms of disclosures. Needless to indicate that the level of disclosures continues to remain a concern despite the progress made in the Disclosure Initiative project.
- 7 The Invitation to Comment recognises itself the risk that the IFRS Taxonomy Update documents despite having the status as accompanying material to the standards, be considered as an integral part of the standards and the IFRS Taxonomy common practice content being perceived as additional authoritative guidance on how to apply IFRS.
- 8 We see a risk that the integration would install the tendency to normalise, standardise financial reporting beyond what is the appropriate level of standardisation, and could therefore undermine to innovations and development in the standards. We therefore recommend that the development of the IFRS taxonomy is not made part of the IASB standard setting process.
- 9 Standards being developed by the IASB should be sufficiently clear to allow the development of a relevant IFRS Taxonomy. The IFRS Taxonomy development could in this respect help to improve the clarity of the definitions and disclosure requirements but should not direct the standard setting process.
- 10 The IFRS Taxonomy should continue being developed in close cooperation between technical accounting teams and taxonomy teams so that the standard-setting process can benefit from the questions posed on the draft standard in the taxonomy process without the taxonomy process driving the standard-setting process.
- 11 EFRAG therefore believes that the IASB Board should not have a role in the approval of the IFRS Taxonomy content updates since this is for most members outside their scope of competence. Moreover such an approval process would constitute a supplementary task for IASB Board members and would be at the expense of their other activities such as outreach activities.
- 12 Furthermore if the number of IASB Board members were to be reduced as suggested in the Request for Views Trustees' Review of Structure and Effectiveness: Issues for the Review, their individual burden will already be increased to carry out the same tasks and their availability in our view should be best used working on enhancing the quality of final standards. IASB Board members would only be able to bear full responsibility for a supplementary task as IFRS Taxonomy approval if they dedicate substantial time and develop their competence.

<sup>1</sup> EFRAG letter of 5 August 2011 on report on the Trustees Strategy Review and EFRAG letter of [XX] December 2015 on the Request for Views Trustees' Review of Structure and Effectiveness: Issues for the Review

- 13 We therefore believe that approval should take place at competent senior staff level having the appropriate expertise. The IFRS Taxonomy activities should be separated from the IASB activities and remain support activities.

Public consultation on the taxonomy

Q2 The DPOC is proposing to maintain the existing process of public consultation on taxonomy content changes after the release of a final Standard. A Proposed Taxonomy Update will normally be released at the same time (or closely after) a final Standard is published and will normally have a comment period of 60 days. Do you agree with this? Why or why not

Notes to constituents

- 14 Under the existing IFRS Taxonomy due process, the Proposed IFRS Taxonomy Update document reflect the presentation and disclosure requirements of the final Standard, and public consultation takes place after the final Standard has been released. The Invitation for Comment proposes that this process should largely be maintained, with the following changes:
- It is proposed that the IFRS Taxonomy due process should make an explicit reference to the fact that the IFRS Taxonomy and more general technology-related matters are considered during standard-setting.*
  - It is proposed that a change should be made to the timing at which the ITCG (IFRS Taxonomy Consultative Group) review of the proposed IFRS Taxonomy content takes place. Currently, this review normally happens after the final Standard has been published. It is now suggested that the ITCG review should be aligned with the related external fatal flaw review of the final Standard.*
  - It is proposed that the IFRS Taxonomy Update document should be given the status of accompanying material to the Standard, even though it may be published at a later time than the final Standard and in the form of a separate document.*
  - It is proposed that the drafting, approval and publication of the Proposed IFRS Taxonomy Update document should normally happen at the same time as the drafting, approval and publication of the final Standard.*

EFRAG's response

EFRAG agrees that the proposed Taxonomy Update is released at about the same time as the final Standard for public consultation.

EFRAG is of the opinion that it is the most efficient way to consult on the proposed Taxonomy Update only after the Standard is finalised even if the drafting process takes place in parallel with the standard. It is important that the disclosure requirements in the Standard are finalised before public consultation takes place.

[note to constituents: EFRAG has decided not to comment on question 3 on the technology part concerning the IFRS Taxonomy Files]

Any other matters

Q4 Are there any other matters relating to our proposals for the IFRS Taxonomy due process that you wish to comment on, including matters that are not covered but that you think should be?

Questions to constituents:

14 Do you have any other observations or comments to share that you think would be useful for EFRAG to include in its letter to the IFRS Foundation on the IFRS Taxonomy due process?
