The rapidly evolving crypto-ecosystem continues to grab headlines and is a source of ongoing interest among stakeholders. Due to the call for regulatory clarity including on the accounting requirements for crypto-assets (liabilities), EFRAG published a Discussion Paper on Accounting for Crypto-Assets \(Liabilities\) \(DP\) in July 2020.

EFRAG's DP intends to inform the forthcoming IASB agenda consultation process. It has a broader scope than the IFRS Interpretations Committee agenda decision (June 2019), whose scope was accounting by holders of cryptocurrencies with no claim on the issuer. It covers accounting for holders and issuers across the full universe of crypto-assets and addresses related valuation considerations.

During this event, the speakers will discuss practical application issues that arise in current reporting and the options for addressing IFRS requirements for crypto-assets (liabilities) proposed in the EFRAG DP. They will also share their views on crypto-related market developments and the possible implications for accounting requirements.

The audience will be able to participate through polling questions and during the Q&A sessions.
